

BUSINESS

Status Update: Parcel Pending in Irvine sells for $100 million; Yard House veteran joins Stacked

Also: LIFEvest, a residential financial literacy program, given a $2 million gift from the Pacific Life Foundation.

6 of 6

Susan B. Parks, president and CEO of Orange County United Way, has received a certificate of Special Congressional Recognition for the work being done by United to End Homelessness, a community-wide initiative led by the local non-profit organization.

Milestones

Susan B. Parks, president and CEO of Orange County United Way, has received a certificate of Special Congressional Recognition for the work being done by United to End Homelessness, a community-wide initiative led by the local non-profit organization. United to End Homelessness recently announced $250,000 in funding from the County of Orange for a pilot program designed to remove barriers to placing homeless men and women with rental vouchers into their own apartment homes while receiving the supportive care needed to bring stability to their lives.